Demonstration Call for Proposals
> Deadline: September 24, 2009 <

The program committee for the 11th biannual IEEE workshop on Automatic Speech Recognition and Understanding is accepting proposals for the Show & Tell demonstration session event that will be held during the conference. The Demonstration session has become an exciting highlight of the ASRU workshops. The event will include demonstrations of latest innovations by research groups in industry, academia and government. Demonstrations can be related to any of the topics defined by ASRU as shown in the call for papers.

The deadline for submission of Show & Tell demos proposals is September 24, 2009 with notification of acceptance by October 6, 2009. Submissions will be mailed to the Demonstration Chairs. Proposals should include the demonstration title, list of authors, and an abstract of no more than one page. The abstract should clearly explain what is novel and innovative in the proposed demonstration. Show & Tell demonstrations should have an interactive component (i.e., should be more than a simple computer simulation or graph). On the other hand, commercial product demonstrations will be considered more appropriate for ASRU exhibits than Show & Tell.

Each demonstration will be allotted one table, space for a poster, and a power outlet. Presenters are responsible for all other equipment and shipping to and from the conference. At request wireless internet connection will also be available and, if you have special requirements, please contact to the Demonstration Chairs.
